EXPERIENCE

Freelance Senior Account & Project Manager self-employed (damienmulhall.com), for One1000 Jun 2026 to Present

Programmes for a global PC manufacturer: an agentic AI developer lab campaign co-funded and co-branded by a global AI chip company and rolled out across EMEA, and a UK sales enablement playbook for customer roundtables.

- Led end-to-end delivery of a multi-country EMEA campaign for two global technology brands, launching in four months from kick-off and absorbing a mid-project change of format without losing completed work. The client signed off a follow-on statement of work and funded a second campaign.
- Owned the campaign budget: built the cost model and proposals in two currencies, re-scoped to a reduced ceiling within a day, rationalised the bill of materials to eleven assets, and cut translation costs in every market with a two-layer localisation model.
- Wrote the campaign and its creative platform: customer identity and tagline, internal sales line, a 14-section EMEA playbook, a six-email registration journey and event site, a 12-post LinkedIn pack and a video script, across 20+ signed-off copy decks and briefs.
- Directed production through the One1000 studio (creative director, designer, video editor), scripting and directing a motion graphics teaser approved by brand in two weeks, and delivering video, certificates, print and merchandise in English, French and German.
- Kept every asset compliant with both brands' guidelines and approval workflows, steering copy through brand review, managing partner sign-off in Workfront and catching a localisation conflict before anything went to print.
- Coordinated logistics, training, merchandise and print vendors to ship 30 pre-configured AI workstations in fly cases plus a permanent UK kit, and cut regional kit booking lead time from up to four weeks to seven days.
- Took over the UK roundtable playbook mid-review and, in under eight billable hours, absorbed the full project record and delivered copy and studio direction for every section that resolved the client's "too corporate" objection.

Co-Founder, Product & Go-to-Market at Hay.chat Aug 2025 to Present

EU-hosted, source-available AI customer support platform for e-commerce and B2B SaaS, live in production and self-hostable. Owns product, marketing and go-to-market alongside the engineering co-founder: 50+ features shipped in 14 consecutive monthly releases (703 commits), planned through Jira and direct product reviews.

Product ownership

- Took the platform from first backlog to production as product owner: wrote the 96 user stories the first release was built on, and has co-directed every monthly release since. The live agent answers from company documents, follows playbooks, acts in connected tools and hands off to a person, in three languages.
- Defined the GDPR programme behind Hay's EU-hosted positioning, from data subject requests and retention to redaction and data residency, almost all shipped between December 2025 and April 2026.
- Set growth strategy as product epics with owners and measurable targets: marketplace listings (the Shopify App Store app is live), referral loops targeting a 10%+ lift, the source-available launch and a hospitality vertical.
- Owned the integration roadmap from spec to launch: 16 live integrations plus the built-in web chat, giving the AI agent 317 actions across e-commerce, helpdesk, CRM, payments, messaging and scheduling tools including Shopify, Zendesk, HubSpot, Stripe and WhatsApp. Shipped the Wix integration hands on and ran written QA passes.

- Specified the confidence guardrails and per-organisation LLM metering behind the agent's trust and cost model. With tiered routing, modelled cost per resolution fell 43%.

Go-to-market, pitching and content

- Pitches Hay on stage and on camera: wrote and delivered every pitch from Web Summit 2025 to the Startup World Cup, reaching the Irish final at Dublin Tech Summit, and built the investor, demo, accelerator and competition decks.
- Runs marketing as a delivery system: a Marketing Ops board of 22 epics on two-week sprints synced to engineering, and an audit of the 15 go-to-market plans against the backlog that re-sequenced the marketplace launches.
- Leads founder-led content: 20+ SEO posts, 22 under his byline, with editing input per post cut by about 72%, and a 40-scenario pricing study (AI cost more than the helpdesk in 4 of 5 cases) pitched to trade press.
- Launched six segmented outbound campaigns on warmed sending domains, and listed Hay on G2, Capterra and 20+ directories.
- Ran three conference presences (Web Summit Lisbon with 67 qualified leads, SIM Conference, Dublin Tech Summit) with a silent demo video, offer cards and QR lead capture into the CRM.

Website and search

- Runs the live product website end to end, directing Claude Code as the implementation team: 32 scoped work packages, 36 pull requests in tested release waves, and about 470 of the site's 760 commits.
- Built a live programmatic SEO system with 120+ pages and 200+ backlinks, plus technical SEO across 7 schema types, nginx 301s, IndexNow and hreflang.
- Found 90% of search traffic was wrong-intent and refocused on buyer searches, lifting a key comparison post from position 9.1 to 4.9.
