SUMMARY

PMP-certified project manager with 14 years of delivering multi-country campaigns, events and digital products for global technology brands across EMEA and the US. In 2026 I launched an EMEA agentic AI campaign for two global technology brands in four months. I co-founded Hay.chat, a live AI customer support platform, and took it from first backlog to production in 14 months as its product and go-to-market lead.

CORE SKILLS

Delivery: programme lifecycle, senior stakeholder management, Agile sprints, release management, software delivery and QA

Commercial: cost models, proposals, statements of work, PO scoping, budget tracking

Campaign production: copywriting, video, localisation, studio and vendor management, brand compliance

Product: backlog ownership, user stories and acceptance criteria, GDPR, go-to-market, technical SEO, directing AI coding agents

EXPERIENCE

Freelance Senior Account & Project Manager for One1000 — Jun 2026 to Present

Programmes for a global PC manufacturer: an EMEA agentic AI developer lab campaign co-branded with a global AI chip company, and a UK sales playbook for customer roundtables.

- Led delivery of a multi-country EMEA campaign for two global technology brands, launching four months from kick-off despite a mid-project change of format. The client signed a follow-on statement of work and funded a second campaign.
- Owned the budget: built the cost model and proposals in two currencies, re-scoped to a reduced ceiling within a day, and cut translation costs in every market with a two-layer localisation model.
- Wrote the campaign's creative platform and 20+ signed-off copy decks, from the tagline and a 14-section EMEA playbook to the registration emails, LinkedIn posts and video script.
- Directed the One1000 studio team to deliver video, print, certificates and merchandise in three languages, including a motion graphics teaser approved by brand in two weeks.
- Kept every asset within both brands' guidelines, managed brand review and partner sign-off in Workfront, and caught a localisation conflict before anything went to print.
- Coordinated vendors to ship 30 pre-configured AI workstations plus a permanent UK kit, and cut kit booking lead time from up to four weeks to seven days.
- Took over the UK roundtable playbook mid-review and, in under eight billable hours, delivered the copy and studio direction that resolved the client's "too corporate" feedback.

Co-Founder, Product & Go-to-Market at Hay.chat — Aug 2025 to Present

AI customer support platform for e-commerce, live in production. I lead product, marketing and go-to-market alongside the engineering co-founder.

Product ownership

- Took the platform from first backlog to production in 14 months as product owner: wrote the 96 user stories behind the first release and co-directed 14 consecutive monthly releases, shipping 50+ features.
- Defined the GDPR programme for an EU-hosted product and shipped it between December 2025 and April 2026.
- Set growth strategy as product epics with owners and targets: marketplace listings, referral loops, the source-available launch and a hospitality vertical.
- Owned the integration roadmap from spec to launch, shipping 16 integrations including Shopify, Zendesk, HubSpot and Stripe, and built the Wix integration hands-on.
- Specified the guardrails and usage metering behind the product's trust and cost model. With tiered routing, modelled cost per resolution fell 43%.

Go-to-market, pitching and content

- Wrote and delivered every Hay pitch from Web Summit 2025 to the Startup World Cup, reaching the Irish final at Dublin Tech Summit, and built the investor, demo and competition decks.
- Ran marketing like a delivery team: 22 epics on two-week sprints synced to engineering, and an audit of 15 go-to-market plans against the backlog that re-sequenced the marketplace launches.
- Wrote 22 blog posts under my own byline, cut editing time per post by about 72%, and published a 40-scenario pricing study that I pitched to trade press.
- Launched six segmented outbound campaigns and listed Hay on G2, Capterra and 20+ directories.

- Ran Hay's stands at Web Summit Lisbon (67 qualified leads), SIM Conference and Dublin Tech Summit.

Website and search

- Led the product website end to end, directing Claude Code as the build team: 32 scoped work packages, 36 tested pull requests and about 470 of the site's 760 commits.
- Built a programmatic SEO system of 120+ pages, backed by 200+ backlinks and the technical SEO groundwork.
- Found that 90% of search traffic was the wrong audience and refocused the site on buyer searches, lifting a key comparison post from position 9.1 to 4.9.

Career break and volunteering Ireland & Australia — Mar 2025 to Aug 2025

- Project managed Diversity & Beyond, a volunteer-led workplace diversity event in Lisbon (June 2025), and earned the PMP and Google Project Management certifications.

Senior Account & Project Manager at One1000, Dublin & Lisbon (remote) — Feb 2018 to Feb 2025

Creative technology agency. Managed 15 concurrent client accounts across EMEA and the US, including global PC, chip, software and search brands.

- Delivered a seven-city enterprise event series for a global software company and two funding partners, owning budget, brand and legal approvals and proof of execution: 80% of registrants attended, and the series generated $9.5M in new pipeline.
- Ran annual EMEA product-launch sales training for a global PC manufacturer across 40+ sites, on time and on budget for five consecutive years.
- Produced an executive podcast series for a global technology brand, from first guest to published episode, passing 100,000 downloads.
- Delivered thought-leadership eGuides with partners including a Hollywood film editor. One became a reference asset for global education sales and was re-commissioned three times.
- Ran campaigns for global chip and search brands, leading developers, designers and subject matter experts, with stakeholder satisfaction above 95%.

Freelance Content Producer self-employed, Ireland — Feb 2017 to Apr 2018

- Produced editorial content and ran social media for FormulaSpy.com, lifting site traffic 30%.

Marketing Program Manager, Displays & Client Peripherals at Dell Technologies, Dublin — Dec 2013 to Feb 2017

- Managed a $460K quarterly marketing budget and vendor network, delivering 20+ B2B campaigns and sales enablement programmes a year and an average $5.2M in attributable revenue.
- Led the rollout of Dell's internal sales enablement library, Client Master, in seven languages, and produced Field Sales Readiness Seminars for 3,000+ sales representatives with satisfaction above 80%.

Media Director at Biz By Media, Dublin — 2012 to 2013

- Coordinated the national relaunch of SsangYong Motors Ireland across print, TV, radio and live events, growing dealer enquiries 35%.
